WHO IS IT?

This is one of a series of photographs of residents you should know. All "Who Is It?" personalities are well-known residents of the Monterey Peninsula. For this week's answer turn to page 19
POLAROID One-Minute Photograph.

FEAST OF THE NUNS MAY 13

Dancers, dancers everywhere, to the lusty strains of the accordion in the hands of a strolling musician, Marie Ware Johnson, and the soft plunking of guitars will be the order of the day on Sunday afternoon, May 13, in the quadrangle of the Carmel Mission.

Vendors of a variety of wares from booths set up along the colonnades will be in colorful Spanish costumes at this Fiesta de las Monjas (Feast of the Nuns). It is a gesture of appreciation to the Sisters of the Carmel school who have labored strenuously and well in the interests of the children of the parish during the school year and all proceeds of the Fiesta will go to them.

All the Catholic groups of the Peninsula have combined to make a really gala afternoon. A dollar dinner will be served continuously from noon until 8 o'clock. There will be movies, a pony for the small fry, a fishpond, Mr. Bill O'Malley will be on hand to autograph copies of his best seller, "Two Little Nuns," and many other diversions.

But the highlight of the Fiesta will be dancing. Groups from the Carmel Mission School, Santa Catalina, Junipero Serra High School under the direction of Miss Dorothy Dean and Miss Haberal, Mr. Harold Brewer's group from the USO under the supervision of Mr. David Crooks.

REPUBLICAN WOMEN OF MONTEREY AREA MEET TODAY

Mrs. Fred W. Whitney announces the next meeting of the Republican Area will be held in the Women's Civic Club, Pacific Grove, today, May 4, at 2 p.m.

The guest speakers will be Don Searle and Shedo A. Russo, candidates for the office of mayor of the city of Monterey.

ton, the Carmel High School dancers in charge of Mr. Sterling Hall--will compete in colorful folk dances. Maypole dances, Schottisches, square dances and the Virginia Reel. Mrs. Frank J. Sieve, general chairman, bids one and all come and join in the fun.

PENINSULA PETS TWO YEARS OLD

Peninsula Pets, Inc. is two years old this month. In celebration of its anniversary it announces a special May offering of 1/3 off on every article purchased at the Peninsula Pets Little Gift Shop on Lincoln Street, opposite the Church of the Wayfarer.

Starting in May, 1949, Miss Bess Prewett and a couple of associates, with very little cash, founded Peninsula Pets, a welfare service for the animals of Carmel, which has now extended over all of the Peninsula. By arrangements with veterinarians Peninsula Pets subsidizes the spaying of female animals--cat and dog--thus reducing the number of unwanted kittens and puppies. Some 500 mother cats and dogs have been spayed, and about 1,000 animals have been placed in good homes.

In December, 1950, the Little Gift Shop was opened for the purpose of paying part of the expenses of the welfare work. Other resources have been food sales, a rummage sale, card parties and memberships. All articles sold in the Gift Shop are contributed. No worker with Peninsula Pets, Inc. is paid...all are volunteers. And the shop could use a few more, especially for the morning hours. The shop is open from 10 to 4:30. Telephone 7-4409 if you have a few hours to spend in a worthy cause.

Peninsula Pets has recently acquired an automobile--the next step is a shelter where animals may be kept while homes are being found for them. Considering the progress the project has made in two years, it seems quite possible to have a shelter in the very near future.

AWVS MEETS TODAY AT LOS LAURELES LODGE

CHIEF KLAUMANN TO WELCOME 100 FBI DELEGATES TO PENINSULA

Carmel Police Chief Clyde Klaumann will welcome some 100 graduates of the FBI National Academy, on May 10, when the FBI National Academy Associates of California attend their 11th Annual Training Session, May 10, May 11, May 12, on the Monterey Peninsula.

Governor Earl Warren will headline the imposing program of speakers, including California Attorney General Edmund G. Brown, Warden Edward Swope of Alcatraz Penitentiary, Professor Hart Mayer of the Radiation Laboratory of the University of California, State Civil Defense Director Major General W. M. Robertson, and other speakers on specialized law enforcement topics.

Warden Swope, head of the U.S. Penitentiary on Alcatraz Island, will speak on organization of the prison system and its functions. "The Atom and the Public," an address by Professor Mayer, will outline the role of law enforcement officers in the event of atomic attack. Maj. Gen. Robertson, state civil defense head, will describe the activities and organization of his department.

In free hours, golf will take up much of the time for delegates, and a generous round of entertainment has been planned. Chief Klaumann, who will make the opening address, was a graduate of the FBI National Academy in Washington, D.C. and recently took first place in the Northern California Division Associate Shoot.

CARMEL AA'S MEET MONDAY

The rector of a prominent church in northern California will address the regular monthly open meeting of the Carmel fellowship of Alcoholics Anonymous at All Saints' Episcopal Church, Monday, May 7, at 8 p.m.

One night last October, this same minister attended his first AA meeting in Carmel, while a visitor here. The members were surprised when after the routine discussions, the minister stood up and said that he too was an alcoholic, and was "going to do something about it." He later informed one of his friends here that he had become a member of the AA group in his home city.

"I feel indebted to Carmel, for that is where I found a way to release myself from the suffering I endured for years as an alcoholic. I am therefore happy to address your meeting on Monday night," he said in response to his invitation.

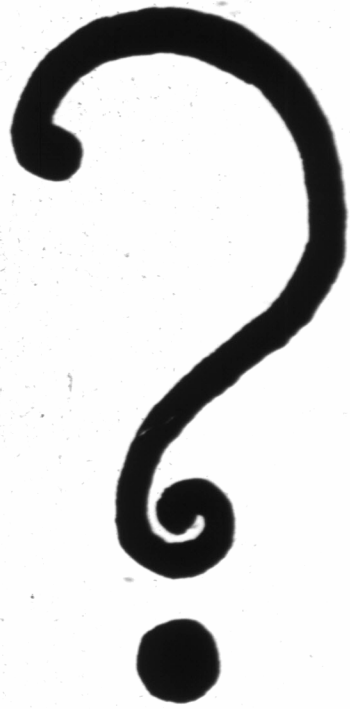

All those who have an alcoholic problem, together with their relatives and friends, are invited to attend this free meeting. While the group meets regularly in the church, it has no religious affiliations with any particular creed, it was pointed out by a spokesman.

FIRST CHURCH CHANGES SCHEDULE

The First Church of Christ, Scientist, Carmel, has announced Sunday evening services, beginning May 6, at 8 p.m. Crowded conditions at the Sunday morning services made it necessary to hold a second service to accommodate all who wish to attend. The 8 p.m. service will be a repetition of the 11:00 a.m. service.

It has also become necessary to hold two sessions of the Sunday School. Beginning May 6, a session will be held at 9:30 a.m. for the older pupils. The usual 11:00 a.m. session will be for the younger pupils. Young people up to 20 years of age are invited to enroll in the Sunday School.

ANDERS GITTELSON'S WORK RECALLS OLD MASTERS IN EXHIBIT

The exhibit of Captain Anders Gittelson's paintings will be shown in the Artists Guild of America, Inc. Galleries, May 10 through May 31. The works of this distinguished young artist, which are often reminiscent of the work of the old masters, also show his own originality of expression.

Gittelson's impressive technique has been seen at various times in Peninsula showings, but the present exhibit is his largest. There are 32 paintings in all, including his "Head of an Oriental," a study of a Korean peasant, which caused New York sculptor Nat Werner to remark, "Nothing like this has been seen for 300 years."

Also on view during this showing is the famous Armin Hansen, N.A. group of etchings, which will be exhibited in the mezzanine gallery.

CARMEL VALLEY WOMAN'S CLUB FASHION-FLOWER SHOW

In spite of weather of an inclemency which we who live up here in the Valley tend valiantly to deny, the annual fashion and flower show of the Carmel Valley Woman's Club, on May Day at the C.C.V.C., was not only widely attended but vastly enjoyed.

Spring flowers, especially parrot tulips and daffodils, banked the terrace and the dining rooms, and vied with the almost equally floral hats of the guests. We saw several friends in hats whom we had never seen in hats before, and they were very becoming.

We were delighted by the seasonal tables. Spring was a wool (cocoanut) lamb; Summer, an enormous cake with complicated looking flowers (edible); Autumn, calendulas and a chocolate cake with walnuts (we and Big Bob almost pried a few off as canapes); Winter, red and green, pine and a fat green candle on a red cloth with red ranunculus.

Laura Maxwell's vigorous, vital watercolors of flowers always please us and there were several on display. Her strong blues and reds we like particularly, probably because they would go so well over our mantel. Actually, we like them all.

The fashion show ran to elegant clothes and exquisite models. Wilma Campbell showed a selection suitable for any occasion from dawn to dark, including a wedding ensemble. Our favorites were, in sports clothes, the lime and various shades of coral combinations, a mustard and white sun back with a reversible jacket (they say it's butterscotch, but it still looks like mustard to us), a white pique, scalloped all up one side, with a bolero and button detail, and two dresses with full length matching dusters, one a blue chambray with a blue and white striped coat, the other a flame dress and blue plaid coat lined to match it. Also cotton.

There was also a large and delectable selection of cotton cocktail dresses, all glamorous enough for the Top of the Mark, yet not too gaudy for a local patio. All of them are bare enough to insure a good tan on a sunny evening. What sunny evening?

Mrs. Woodburn modeled an ivory brocade embroidered with tiny flowers, worn over pantelettes, lace-trimmed, which belonged to her —

NOT SO CONTENTED

Among the startling bits of information revealed by modern science is the fact that cows aren't such docile and contented beasts as we have always thought they were. On the contrary, says the University of California School of Agriculture at Davis, cows are often bitter and maladjusted in their bovine relationships. They have social ambitions and feel frustrated when they are not accepted in the best circles. This causes them to brood and their milk production drops as a result.

Experts now believe that it may be necessary to develop a branch of cow psychiatry to get at the basic causes of the discontent. What they will use for the traditional couch for their bovine patients to recline upon while answering questions is a question itself. But something must be done to establish that inner tranquility which has long been typified by the cud-chewing cow at rest in a scene of bucolic splendor. Let the task proceed -- and at once!

ALL COMMITTEES FOR MISS MONTEREY PENINSULA PAGEANT ANNOUNCED

The Monterey Peninsula Junior Chamber of Commerce has announced all committees who will serve on the 1951 "Miss Monterey Peninsula" Beauty Pageant.

The general chairman will be James McNeill, Carmel realtor.

Entries committee will be headed by Donald Partridge, Pacific Grove contractor. The duties of this committee will be to contact civic and service clubs and local schools to select eligible contestants for the title.

PLASCO PRODUCTS, MONTEREY

by the Junior Chamber.

The Fashion Show Committee is headed by Donald Still, Monterey auto sales manager. He is arranging for a site for the fashion show at which the contestants will be judged for talent, poise and personality.

Nick Srsen, an accountant in Carmel, is making arrangements with Wilma Campbell for the gowns which the contestants will model at the show, and also arranging for coaching of the girls by an experienced coach in modeling.

The Budget and Finance Committee will be headed by Carmel Martin, Jr., Monterey attorney, and Donald Partridge. Judges will be carefully selected for their unbiased opinion and ability to judge a typical American girl, taking into consideration charm, poise, personality, intellect, talent and beauty.

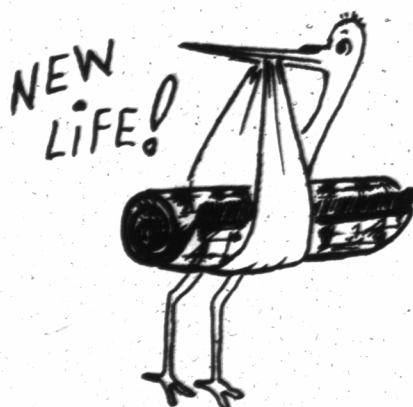

Any unmarried girl who will have reached the age of 18 and who is under 27 years of age by September 1, is eligible to enter the contest provided she is a resident of the Monterey Peninsula -- Monterey, Pacific Grove, Seaside, Carmel, and Carmel Valley -- or a student in a Peninsula school.

Entry blanks may be secured from any Jaycee or by calling the Junior Chamber of Commerce secretary at 5-4234.

ALL SAINTS' RUMMAGE SALE

The All Saints' Episcopal Church in Carmel will have a rummage sale in the parish hall on 9th and Lincoln. The chairman in charge is Mrs. Alice Ayers. Anyone who has anything to be picked up can either call Mrs. Ayers at 7-4997 or Mrs. Douglas Kay at 7-7339.

PENINSULA COMMUNITY

HOSPITAL TO HOLD OPEN HOUSE

County and city officials, together with leaders of civic, fraternal, church and school groups, have been invited as special guests at the public "open house" arranged at the Peninsula Community Hospital's Medical Annex, Santa Fe and Del Monte Avenues, in observance of National Hospital Day, Saturday, May 12.

All residents of the Monterey Peninsula are urged to visit The Annex on that day to see the results of extensive remodeling, which has produced a complete and independent medical unit. A general invitation has been issued by Miss Katherine Smits, administrator of the hospital. Refreshments will be served from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m.

In addition to fostering more public knowledge and appreciation of the nation's hospitals, National Hospital Day commemorates the birthday anniversary of Florence Nightingale, the pioneer leader of modern nursing. In observance of this day Allan Knight, Mayor of Carmel, has issued a proclamation so designating the day.

Enlargement of The Annex is contemplated by the hospital's board of directors, according to Miss Smits, who said it is planned to increase the medical department facilities and also provide a modern and complete 20-bed obstetrical unit.

Members of the hospital board headed by Thomas W. Norris, with Miss Smits and Mrs. Nancy Margaves, supervisor at The Annex, will be on hand to greet the "open house" guests.

BAL des QUATRE ARTS

SATURDAY NIGHT the Mission Ranch was crowded to the rafters as the NEW GROUP'S Bal des Quatre Arts took place. Photographer Steve Crouch took the pictures on the preceding page. His comments on the Ball follow:

1) HIT of the evening's floor show was Janine Johnson's rendition of the old French folk tune, "Pigalle." Janine, a genuine Parisian, enchanted the crowd with her songs.

2) CHEESECAKE seemed to have an unusual attraction all evening for Professor Dan Barden of Monterey Peninsula College. His wife, Ann, left, keeps close watch on him as he talks to Dancer Joan Nix.

3) Some of Carmel's foremost hams stepped forth to monopolize the lens of movie cameraman Charles Stanyan, who attended the party to make a short of the ball for the Carmel Hill Theatre newsreel.

4) Most people enjoyed the party very much and hailed it as the Peninsula's most successful Artists' Ball. A few seemed merely tired of it all. Among the dancers were Jehanne Monteagle and Jack Wibby.

5) A FEW HUSBANDS kept close watch on their wives during the evening but more wives kept a closer watch on their husbands. However, the newly-wedded Remo Scardiglis seemed perfectly content to keep an eye on each other.

6) MOVING ABOUT among the dancers was General Douglas MacArthur in the person of Carmel's ribbons and notions magnate, Mark Raggett. General Raggett, when questioned about his medals, identified them as the Lions Club Good Conduct Medal, the service medal for the Battle of the Mission Ranch, and Young Democrats for Wilkie Badge. The General, later in the evening, just faded away.

7) AL RAILTON, who came to the ball attired as a broken-down French count, takes time out from dancing to pass the time of day with Cookie Crouch.

8) THE GROUP from Place Pigalle seemed the most Bohemian at the ball. Appearing perfectly at home amid the French decor of the Mission Ranch, they were joined by Carmel's boulevardier and cosmopolite, Pete Johnson, in a rousing version of the stirring Parisian marching song, "Monsieur, Vous Oubliez Votre Cheval."

9) KALDOR-BATES seemed to enjoy being photographed. Warren Kaldor, left, and Ray Bates smile at the antics of some Left Bank types, while Ray's new wife reserves judgement on Carmelites in general. Dr. C. Ridgley Parker, with glasses, and "Red" Carey, just making the picture.

10) THE STREETS OF MONTMARTRE and the Moulin Rouge came to life at the Artists' and Models' Ball, at the Mission Ranch Saturday night, when Yvette Guilbert carried on a conversation in purest Parisian French with Henry T. Latreck, who shaved off his beard for the occasion.

11) POSSIBLY because of the change in time when Daylight Saving went into effect during the evening, some gay revelers didn't know whether to be sleepy or not, while others stayed wide awake. The Arabian plenipotentiary, Hadji Padi, in the person of Dick Lofton, and his wife, Nancy, had trouble staying awake as the ball wore into the small hours, while attorney Malcolm Millard and his wife, Margaret, seemed as full of spirits as when they arrived.

12) JUNE CABRERA, who came to the ball attired as a Parisian mannequin, won the prize as the most beautiful girl without serious opposition. Her husband, Hernan Cabrera, dressed as a Parisian mandarin, looks on with satisfaction.

OTHERS who attended the New Group's Bal des Quatre Arts were Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Carey, Dr. and Mrs. G. Ridgley Parker, Dr. and Mrs. Talcott Bates, Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Wurmann, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Beller, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Warshawsky, Mr. and Mrs. John Cunningham, Mr. Jacques Coulet, Mrs. Phyllis Carter, Mr. Ed Kennedy, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Durein, Mr. Peter Breinig, Mr. and Mrs. George Cain, Mr. Barret Segal, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Ariss, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Klepich, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Frank, Mr. Robert Ewart, Mrs. Lee Harbick, Mr. and Mrs. Terry Eby, Mrs. Lois Macgregor, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Vial, Mrs. Paul Clark, Mr. Robert Reed, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Olivetti, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Randolph, Miss Sophie Harpe, Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Barnes, and more than a thousand others.

The Lively Arts

THEY'VE DONE
IT AGAIN!

California's First Theatre, in Monterey, had its opening last Friday evening of "The Working Girl's Wrongs," a tragic but laugh-producing melodrama, played to a full and appreciative house. Again they struck the fire.

This play will be repeated Saturday and Sunday evenings until June 23.

Diveley-directed -- another way of saying most excellently directed -- the Gold Coast Troupers had the audience splitting its sides throughout the entire evening. We hissed the hateful villains and loudly applauded the righteous nobility of hero and heroine.

John Kidwell as "Ansleigh Wharton," the dastardly Capitalist, whose twitching features betrayed his inner malice of intent, oppressed the girls in his cigarette factory and seduced them when they appealed to him.

"Mamie Malloy" (Dee Olivetti), whose charms Wharton found irresistible, scorned his advances when she learned of his perfidy to her friend, "Annie Lawrence," played by Violet Evans. The heartless villain then tricked Mamie into apparent thievery by planted circumstantial evidence. Concealing the terrible predicament from her poor blind old mother (Cecille King), she got out of jail on bail put up by her fond and faithful suitor, "Jack Fallon" (Charles O'Connell).

But trouble and tragedy were still in the offing. There followed the murder of Annie, actually Wharton's wife, whom he had deserted and tricked into thinking she had never been legally married to him, by the ex-convict henchmen, crafty but dull-witted "Bates" (Paul Vornholt); then another attempted, but foiled, murder of "Little Bess," the Whartons' child, played by Carolyn Holman.

True love and honor conquered in the end. Mamie and Jack were married, in jail; Bates confessed his dastardly crime; Jack had his unjust sentence commuted by "Governor Davis" (Eugene King) and, at the last hour, was freed from the gallows; Ansleigh Wharton's villainy was exposed.

Every one of these parts was well played. Charles O'Connell, as the fine upstanding young workingman, and Dee Olivetti, as the attractive, self-respecting factory girl, evidencing just the right combination of verve and sweet femininity, were perfectly cast. Violet Evans took the part of the betrayed and brow-beaten "Annie Lawrence," with sustained pathos to Annie's miserable end. As "Little Bess," young Carolyn Holman did a very nice bit of acting. And the two villains certainly merited their hisses. Not an easy part to play, the blind "Mrs. Malloy" was really beautifully done by Cecille King.

Rollicking humor was introduced into the otherwise grim story by the rowdy antics of "Katie Kerrigan" and "Dickie Malone" (two old friends among the Troupers, Faith Ellis and Alex Olivetti). And the remaining parts were nicely handled by Bert Sharpe as "Bill Lawrence," Frank Fiala as the prison warden, "John Weston,"

RESORTS IN FULL SWING

Recent openings of several popular Peninsula resorts have made a considerable number of new entertainment facilities available to local pleasure-seekers as well as out-of-town vacationists.

Up the Carmel Valley, three resorts opened within the past two weeks, one of them for the first time. The resort area is located, roughly, 10 to 15 miles up the Carmel Valley Road off U.S. Highway One.

First to announce its full operating status recently was Los Laureles Lodge, which is managed again this year by popular Herb and Ollie Brooks, former owners of Strawberry Lodge near Tahoe. The Lodge offers guest accommodations, swimming pool, golf course, and features a new cocktail lounge and a dance floor where folk dancing is taught by the Brooks and by Shirley Smith, former folk dancing instructor at Strawberry. Regular classes are held Monday evenings, 8-10 p.m. with all-out folk dance sessions weekends. A new and appreciated feature of this resort is the 9-hole pitch-and-putt golf course, the longest hole being 80 yards. There is swimming every day and a smorgasbord luncheon by the pool on Sundays from 1-3 p.m. Dinner is preferably by reservation and is in the European style.

Open last week to the public was the Rancho Del Monte Country Club's Tropicana Room, a smart new addition to this private club which does make special allowance for out-of-town non-member guests staying at the club. The Tropicana dining room will present culinary specialties by Chef Felix throughout the season, featuring particularly pheasant chicken. The cocktail lounge is open daily with service on the terraces.

overlooking the Club's new heated swimming pool. Other recreational facilities are shuffle board, a children's swimming pool, and a tennis court now under construction. It is also planned to continue last season's custom of dancing on the patio, and there will be special party nights, some of them costume events as before. Owners are Paul Porter and Peggy Porter Marquard.

Newest member of the resort fraternity, opening for the first time this season, is the Carmel Valley Country Club headed by "Big Bob" Robinson and "Little Bob" Mills, who so successfully packed the Carousel last season with their elaborate dinners, continual parties and madcap antics. Building the new Club around themselves, the "Two Bobs" offer a large new entertainment plant with atmospheric "Old San Francisco Room" bar and lounge and a justly named "Panorama Dining Room" overlooking their new swimming pool and the upper Carmel Valley oaks and hills. They serve luncheons on weekends and dinner nightly. Entertainment is generally spur-of-the-moment except for innumerable special event parties. The Club is non-membership and is open to the public.

Getting much interested comment is Rocky Point Lodge, the newly completed and spectacular newcomer, 10 miles down the coast highway from Carmel. Operated by owners Lou and Rocky Bowersox, Rocky Point Lodge is built close to the water on the scenic shoreline of Le Cap de Roc, purportedly the hangout of Le Rec Corsaire, a 17th century buccaneer. To lend background mood for cocktails and dining and picture-window gazing, is organist Don Bernard. Featuring steaks and an all round menu of excellent food, they are open from 5 p.m. to 1 a.m. week days, and 1 p.m. to 1 a.m. Saturdays and Sundays.

Farthest down the coast in Big Sur, but not too far for even the mildly adventuresome and its scores of Peninsula habitues, is Nepenthe, owned by Bill and Lollie Fassett. Perched sky high on a cliff overlooking the sea, this magnificent sample of modern architecture is its own drawing card. A comfortable afternoon's drive down Highway 1 can bring you to Nepenthe by opening time at 4 p.m. Drinks and food are served at the indoor-outdoor bar and dining room, which is hosted by Bill and Lollie themselves. Nepenthe is open daily except Mondays. Opens at noon on Sundays.

Also grandiosely located on the coast highway, 14 miles below Carmel, is The Crocodile's Tail, now in its second year under Betty Ann and Ralph Gilman. Besides their own informality, the view, and dinner specialties headed by Indian Curries, they present a potent new cocktail of their own device called "The Crocodile's Tail." They are open weekends from 5 p.m. to 1 a.m., and Saturdays and Sundays from noon 'til 1 a.m.

Word has just been received that an old favorite, the Carousel, in Carmel Valley, will reopen tomorrow, May 5. It has been completely redecorated with murals by Bruce Ariss and Margaret Dienelt. These murals carry out the Carousel theme and we can promise you an interesting decorative scheme. The Carousel will feature live music by talented entertainers.

PG&E PAYS BIG LOCAL TAX BILL ON PROPERTIES

Monterey County property tax payments for the 1950-51 tax year by Pacific Gas and Electric Company total $601,224, T. E. Ward, manager of the company's Coast Valleys Division, announced. This is a nearly two-thirds increase over the $371,732, paid in the county last year, primarily as a result of construction of Moss Landing Steam Plant.

P.G. and E.'s property taxes in Monterey County include $213,663 for county government, $292,576 in support of public schools, $41,062 in other district taxes and $53,923 paid to cities. Ad valorem taxes the company paid to Carmel on its properties within the city amounted to $2,257.

ANSWER TO THIS WEEK'S

WHO IS IT?

In spite of the fact that "essential industry" usually connotes steel girders, airplanes, precision instruments and the like, a vitally essential industry daily "stitches away" just around the corner from Ocean Avenue on Mission Street. And our this week's "Who Is It?" Mr. Clarence W. Wentworth, is its "production manager." From a little shop in the olden days, when it was the place at which people congregated to discuss the affairs of the nation, it has grown into a thriving business and one which Carmel--particularly its young fry who go through a pair of shoes a week--couldn't get on without.

Mr. Wentworth came to Carmel first in 1925, when his health brought him here for a vacation and rest. Although he grew up on a farm in New Hampshire, cattle and produce farming had no appeal as a life work, even though as a lad of eleven he had a flourishing milk route that had to be started out upon at five every morning and finished in time for him to get to school. There, boys and girls, was a real reason for occasional tardiness!

At fifteen, Mr. Wentworth tried his hand as carpenter's apprentice, but since winter in New England gives the carpenter no employment but wood chopping, carpentry didn't look like a livelihood either. Living as he did in the center of New England's shoe industry, he quite naturally found shoe making interesting and learned some of the basic principles of his present business. But it was a grocery, hay, and grain business of his own which he sold before coming to Carmel.

Although he returned to the East, the lure of Carmel, coupled with the opportunity to buy his present shop, brought him back. In spite of the fact that his hobbies are his home and garden, other people's being "down at the heels" keeps him too busy at the shop to do all the gardening he'd like to do. So, when you're down on your uppers, there's a shoe hospital that can take care of all patients who come, either regularly or in emergencies.

"WORKING GIRL'S WRONGS"

Remedios Miranda as "Walter Jones," "Pop" Smith as the Reverend Abel Ashton, and John Walker as "Mike Colligan." Mr. Sharpe, in his drunken father role was especially outstanding.

Special credit should be given Rhoda and Richard Johnson for their invaluable work with costumes, stage setting and management. Without them, and without Wilda Reed at the piano, these Denny-Watrous performances, so loved by all Peninsulites, could hardly go on.

Sprightly, dancing-eyed Alex Olivetti was emcee for the hilarious olio which followed the play proper. New numbers have been introduced, the greatest compliment to which is to say that they compare favorably with the old and tried "Bushes in the Bottom of the Garden," "Mister Gallagher and Mister Shean," and "The Choir," any one of which fans would be heartbroken to have omitted. "The Afternoon of a Faun" is side-splitting, and "Rigoletto" is not only jocose but affords a brief musical treat in Eugene King's superb voice.

Again, congratulations and thanks, Rhea Diveley and Gold Coast Troupers, not only for the good acting, but also for the light-hearted, strain-relieving conviviality of a gay evening.

NINE YEAR OLD BOY FINDS MILITARY SUPPLY LINES STRETCHING

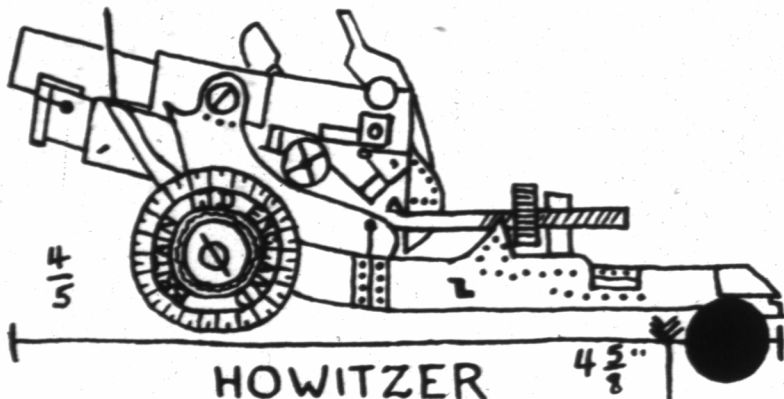

The following letter was passed on to the CARMEL SPECTATOR by Douglas Kay's Toy Shop, who in turn received it from a nine-year old boy. It was written neatly in his own handwriting and will give readers an idea of some of the logistics problems facing our military commanders overseas:

March 24, 1951
A.P.O.
Ankara, Turkey

Toyland Shop
Carmel, Calif.
Dear Sir,

Maybe you remember me. I was in Carmel when your shop first opened. I was a devout admirer of your soldiers and army equipment. Your helper and I got to be good friends. I don't know whether I ever mentioned that I was leaving for Turkey or not. However, I mentioned a couple of times that I would like to buy some of your soldiers and equipment. The main reason I did not was that we had to leave much sooner than we expected. My father is now assistant Army Attache to Ankara. I now find, as I have taken up collecting soldiers again, that I can get everything I need here including tanks except equipment, such as trucks, canons, trailers, etc. Therefore, I must rely on you to supply me.

The first thing I need is those English cannons that you have.

At the time, I have only one. I will need at least 4 more, as I plan to build my army to two companies. The particular kind I want is shown in a picture drawn from the one I have. Only this will do, as I want to match mine. This kind does not shoot caps. Only the ammunition. For them, I will probably want ammunition trailers and some kind of a vehicle to pull them.

What I would like to ask you please to do is to send me an A.P.O. letter. (By the time regular postage gets here, the ink is practically worn off). In it, tell me exact price (with tax) of the howitzer, the ammunition trailer, and the anti-aircraft gun (The one that shoots).

Next, please try to dig all the pictures you can of your trucks and jeeps (and any other equipment you feel I might be interested in) and include these with the respective prices. You will be doing me a great service by doing this. I will send you an order including postage as soon as possible.

Thank you,

Sincerely,

Halford Greenlee
c/o Lt. Col. H. R. Greenlee P-19801

P.S. One reason I'd like this information as soon as possible is that I am planning a war soon with another boy who already has a large army. H.G.
